Area preparing for Easter

More than 2,000 colored plastic eggs filled with jelly beans will be sought Saturday morning by youngsters participating in the Granite City Park District's annual "Easter Egg Hunt," a highlight of local Easter activities throughout the Quad-City area.

All local churches are planning special observances and activities for the holiday and many organizations are sponsoring egg hunts and other activities. Details of the area's many observances are given in today's Press-Record.

Again, as in the past several years, Granite City's 1982 Easter egg hunt will take place in the Wilson Park Ice Rink. The hunt is arranged under roof to avoid the event being cancelled, should inclement weather prevail on the scheduled date.

The youthful hunters are restricted to those in preschool through first grade who will start seeking the eggs at different times, according to age group.

First grade pupils will begin hunting for eggs at 9 a.m. Saturday, kindergarten children at 9:45 a.m. and preschoolers at 10:30 a.m.

This week, the park office staff is busy filling the eggs, which will be hidden in straw strewn about the floor of the ice rink. Prizes will be given out in each of the three groups.

Parents are reminded that each child is required to bring his or her own container for the eggs and all children must be residents of the Granite City Park District.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Wilson Park office at 877-3059.

Another highlight of the annual Easter Sunday observance here is the sunrise worship service in the Wilson Park Ice Rink.

Dr. Arthur Vincent of St. Louis is to be the speaker for the sunrise service, which will begin at 6 a.m. Sunday. The event is sponsored by the Lutheran Bureau of the Tri-Cities, but persons of all faiths are being invited.

Another community-wide observance planned is the annual Good Friday noon service, sponsored by the Quad-City Ministerial Association. The worship service, at noon tomorrow, traditionally draws a large gathering of many faiths, including downtown workers who attend on their lunch hours.

The Good Friday noon service is to be at Niederrhein United Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue and will feature Sister Geraldine from St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Additional details on these services are included in today's issue.

TRUMPETING THE GOOD NEWS.
The traditional white Easter lily, symbol of the Easter season, announces the resurrection of Christ. Churches, homes and many public places are now graced with the flowers in preparation for this Sunday's observance.

4 GC aldermen may lose seats to redistricting

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Granite City may or may not be required by state law to trim its number of aldermen and wards before the next aldermanic election April 5, despite the fact that the city council voted Tuesday night to appoint "a blue-ribbon committee" to redraw ward boundaries.

"We have a terrible, terrible mess," said Mayor Paul Schuler yesterday, the day after the council began redistricting plans. The reshuffle could result in four less aldermen and two less wards. Currently there are two aldermen for each of the city's seven wards. In addition to reducing the council, a redistricting effort could mean a change of boundary lines for every city ward.

A gradual loss of population reflected in the 1980 census and a shift of population spurred the redistricting questions raised Tuesday night at the Granite City Council meeting.

The subject of redistricting had been treated only with rumblings in political circles until the topic surfaced Tuesday night when Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur brought the issue to the city council floor.

Decatur said that, regardless of any drastic cuts in the number of aldermen, the city still may have to redistrict to allow equal ward representation. "If we keep the seven wards, we may have to change the (ward) boundaries to make each ward have the same number of people," Decatur said. He noted that such equal representation is required by state law and is an issue the blue-ribbon committee will have to consider.

Central to the issue of how many aldermen a city may elect are state laws which specify the number of aldermen, according to city population. However, different population rules apply for the "alderman-mayor" form of government and the "strong mayor"

GC Steel waives 'windfall'

Granite City Steel made a surprise announcement at Tuesday's council session — the company will waive rights to the city's $36,000 Nineteenth Street Overpass Fund surplus.

The Granite City Steel, Division of National Steel, was represented by Tom Hoyer, assistant controller, who offered the city a deal most aldermen found impossible to refuse.

Hoyer said that under an existing agreement between the city and the steel company, made prior to the construction of the overpass, there exists a basis for a steel company claim on a sizeable portion of the surplus.

Granite City Steel is paying the principal and interest on $1.7 million in bonds for the several million dollar project.

Noting that a thriving steel company and city are mutually beneficial, he laid out the conditions necessary to free the funds for the city's use.

In return for releasing possible rights, the steel company asked the city to drop a $20,000 assessment the administration planned to charge for costs incurred by the city in monitoring the overpass project. Granite City Steel also requested the right to reconsider the agreement if any other claimant appears at a later date. "I can't imagine who else would have a claim on the money," said Mayor Paul Schuler.

Granite City Steel requests an audit of the 19th Street Overpass Fund to be made at the same time as the city's annual audit.

Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer said the conditions seem fair and merely reflected efforts by the steel company to be protected, should future disputes arise.

Third Ward Alderman Carl Kittel was the only alderman disagreeing with the council decision, which allows the mayor to enter into an agreement unseen by the council. The alderman first wanted a legal opinion on the agreement.

"Only one little problem...we needed the money yesterday," the mayor replied to Kittel.

Kittel did not approve a waiving of the city's right to charge the two percent administrative fee, since it would go against the new accounting approach now being taken by the city's comptroller.

Comptroller Joseph Miklovic said Tuesday that he intends to operate the city as a business and require in-

WHO'D HAVE GUESSED? Parking meters, along the 1800 block of Delmar Avenue, show evidence of the early spring snow which covered the Quad-Cities last night and this morning. The snow is forecast to continue through tonight. The area has experienced snow as late as June in years past.

Surprise! Winter returns

April is supposed to be a month graced by spring's warming breezes, showers and the appearance of fruit buds and tulips and other flowers. It is a time for planting gardens and mowing lawns.

Old Man Winter, however, made one last stand here this week, bringing with him snow, record sub-freezing temperatures and killing many of the spring flowers, plants and fruit tree buds.

The temperatures dipped to 23 degrees with a wind chill of 3

degrees below zero early Tuesday morning and the cold continued

Tuesday night as a low of about 25 was reported Wednesday night and this morning, approximately two inches of snow fell here, a record.

Apple trees and strawberries exposed to the cold are expected to lose 10 to 15 percent of their fruit, due to the untimely freeze. The tulip beds in Wilson Park were converted from beautiful seas of red and yellow petals to a sorry sight of the flowers tipped to the ground, the victims of two frosty nights.

Some of these harmed by the freeze are expected to recover, but many will not, experts said. Tomato plants which were put into the ground early by anxious gardeners have little chance of surviving, unless they were covered by jars, newspapers, straw or other matter to keep the night cold from settling on them.

Although the temporary return of winter was tragic for fruit growers, gardeners and flower lovers, there were no serious incidents involving persons reported to local agencies.

The Quad-City area fared much better than other areas caught in the giant cold weather band which swept the northeast and central portions of the country. New York experienced the worst April blizzard in more than a century.

ONE LAST FLING by Old Man Winter has taken its toll this week of flowers, fruit trees and a variety of garden plants which have suffered the brunt of a heavy spring freeze. This yellow tulip is one of hundreds in Wilson Park destroyed by the unseasonable frost early Tuesday morning.

GERALD PINKERTON
Captain on May 1

GC police promoted

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

A series of promotions affiliated with the resignation of Granite City Police Capt. Francis McManus, effective May 1, were approved by the Granite City Council Tuesday night.

Lt. Gerald Pinkerton is to be promoted to the rank of captain. Sgt. Glenn Wright will attain the rank of lieutenant and Detective Kerry "Kip" Pomeroy is to become a sergeant.

A new patrolman is to be hired. The council approved the hiring of Michael Gagich, a former dispatcher who was laid off when CETA (Manpower) funding ended. Gagich will become a probationary patrolman when he completes basic law enforcement school from May 10 to June 18.

Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer commented on the promotions yesterday, saying, "They are all deserving men. All have good records." Veizer said exact assignments for the men promoted will be determined in the next few weeks, but most are expected to continue in their present roles until Gagich completes school and joins the uniformed force.

In making the appointment for hiring, Norbert Sudholt, chairman of the Granite City Board of Fire & Police Commissioners, noted, "This appointment (of Gagich) was submitted to fill the vacancy due to the death of Patrolman Ed Wiesehan. The council at that time, approved the appointment, but delayed the hiring until the city's finances had improved."

Sudholt also noted, "This will still leave us with four dispatchers and one patrolman short of our allocated strength."

Capt. McManus, 65, leaves the department after 32 continuous years as a Granite City policeman. He was hired Feb. 1, 1950, and was promoted to sergeant May 1, 1965, and to lieutenant Aug. 1, 1967.

He became chief of detectives July, 1971, and was promoted to captain Feb. 5, 1974, taking over the service division.

Van pooling plan closer to reality here

The Madison County Transit Board has learned that van pooling and para-transit funding are in various stages of progress. Dan Brudi of Van Pool's Services, the firm contracted to provide van pool services to the county, said his company will soon be ready to begin. Brudi said the service has made presentations about the van pools to several of the larger companies of the county and has received some positive responses. Some of the 15 passenger vans are expected to arrive soon and van pools will be set up as soon as they are in operation, he said. "Once we get this started, I think it will have a snowball effect," Brudi said. "We should be able to place quite a few vans, once this gets started."

Applications for para-transit funding have been received from 14 communities and townships in the county, said Jim Richards, who is developing the program for the transit board. The requests, totaling $250,000, are for aid to existing local transportation services, such as shuttle buses.

Richards said he feels that just about all of the requests are valid, but need technical adjustments on their

Charge men with reckless driving

Receiving a report that a motorist was driving in the vicinity of 21st Street and Edison Avenue, causing a disturbance last week, an officer stopped an auto matching the vehicle's description at 20th Street and Delmar Avenue. The driver, Delmar E. Steinbecker, 48, of 2137 Grand Ave., allegedly refused to show police his driver's license.

While the officer was questioning Steinbecker, a man arrived at the scene and alleged Steinbecker had tried to run over him and his family at 21st Street and Niedringhaus Avenue. The man, a resident of the 2000 block of Edison Avenue, signed a complaint charging Steinbecker with reckless conduct. Steinbecker also was charged by police with driving on an expired license. He was released on payment of a $102 cash bond.

NORTH SPEECH FINALISTS. Granite City Optimist Oratorical Contest speech finalists from Granite City High School North are, from the left, John Withers, Mike Salem, Maria Vhalan and Connie Borror. The students will speak for four to five minutes on the topic "You and I, and Tomorrow" at the Tuesday, April 13, noon meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club to be held in the YMCA. Dr. Gonia Michaeloff, speech department chairman at North, is their coach.

Compensate citizens on the transit board

Members of the Madison County Transit Board have voted to compensate citizens for the time they spend on transit business. The board members approved a $25-per-day allowance, at a maximum of $100 each month for the citizen members of the board. Also approved was a 20-cents-per-mile travel reimbursement available to all members.

Board Chairman Bill Haine said he feels it is necessary to reimburse the citizen members of the board for their time. "I don't think it's proper to differentiate between the citizen members and the elected members on the board. But, I don't want them to go uncompensated," he said.

Haine and Board Members Robert Stille and Paul

Schuler of Granite City are ineligible for the daily allowances because they are elected officials already compensated for their work. Haine is a county board member, Stille is Edwardsville Township supervisor, and Schuler is mayor of Granite City.

Haine said he proposed the reimbursement because the Illinois legislature now mandates that citizens serve as members of the board. "They have to take time away from their businesses and work," he said. "They should at least get some compensation."

The citizen members on the board are Bogle Redmon, Collinsville, and Susan Blackhurst, Edwardsville. Redmon was just recently appointed to the board, and Wednesday was his first meeting.

Free solar energy workshop

A free solar energy workshop will be held at the Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville. University Center on Wednesday, April 14. The workshop will last from 4 to 6 p.m. and will be located in the Oak Room. Jeff Graeff of the Shawnee Solar Department Corporation, located in Carbondale, will discuss the job creation potential of solar and other alternative technologies for Southern Illinois. The presentation may be of special interest to administrative and classroom educators as methods of incorporating alternative technologies in learning situations will be addressed. The Workshop is one of a series being presented by the CETA-Education Linkage Project to explore existing and potential career opportunities for youth. According to a study by the Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO (Energy for a Working America, May, 1980) found that meeting energy conservation and efficiency standards in existing residential and commercial structures could provide 200,000 jobs in the basic weatherization field alone in the 1980's. Find man in car blocking roadway.

When patrolling officers found a vehicle parked across both northbound lanes of Namecki Road at Jill Avenue early in the morning last week, they alleged that the driver, Bryan K. Mainer, 19, of 2449 St. Clair Ave., was lying on the front seat asleep. The door was locked and the engine was running, police said. Officers awakened Mainer and offered to park the auto in a nearby shopping center lot and take the driver home. The motorist, however, allegedly became abusive, made threats and broke the watchband on one officer's wrist. Mainer was then charged with criminal damage to property, improper parking on a roadway and resisting arrest. He was released several hours later on payment of a $202 cash bond.

Assault charge against GC man

Charges of aggravated assault and resisting a peace officer were made this week by Madison police against Stanley T. Hoffman, 24, of 4537 Walter Ave. Hoffman was arrested in the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was among four persons being questioned in reference to an incident in Madison. The four were not involved, but had some knowledge, police indicated. Hoffman allegedly objected to the questions and cursed, used abusive language and attempted to push down one officer with his fist. He reportedly tore the tie and buttons from the officer's shirt and caused injury to the officer's finger which required treatment in the emergency room. The Granite City man was released from custody seven hours later upon paying a $137 cash bond.

Venice secretaries ratify contract with school district

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Secretarial personnel in the Venice School District, who are members of Local 98, Building Services Employees Union, have ratified a new two-year working agreement, it was announced at Monday night's meeting of the Venice Board of Education.

The new contract calls for a 57-cent per-hour raise in 1981-82 and a 35-cent hourly increase in the second year. Three new steps in pay increments from 10 to 13 years, showing 40-cent hourly pay hikes between each year and next, also were added to the new agreement.

The former contract expired June 30, 1981. However, negotiations toward a new agreement between the Venice district and Local 98, covering custodians, cooks and secretaries, did not begin until January.

The decision to delay the talks was by mutual consent of the board and union and followed ratification of an agreement between District 3 and Teachers Local 965.

At the 10-year level, secretaries covered in the Class I schedule received $5.19 per hour under the old agreement and will receive $5.76 in the current year and $6.11 in 1982-83. Beginning salaries range from $5.04 this year to $5.39 in 1982-83; with the 10th year step listed at $6.01 and $6.41.

Class III secretaries with 10 years will earn $5.86 and $6.21 under the new contract, with the scales ranging from $5.16 (current) to $5.51 (next year) in the first year of employment to $6.11 and $6.51 in the 13th year.

Class III secretaries in the 10th year will make $5.86 in the current year and $6.31 in 1982-83. Salaries start at $5.28 and $5.63 in the first year of employment to $6.21 and $6.61 at the 13th step under the new agreement.

A change in contract language also was agreed upon by the board and Local 98 members, involving specific use of five funeral days per year.

Another change is prior notification of the intention to use four emergency days, which may not be utilized three days prior to a holiday or three days afterward in the new contract.

These changes also were part of the agreement between custodians, employees and cooks, which was ratified last month.

In other action, the board agreed to hire Ruth MacDonald and Genevieve Helrich as nurse-side instructors for programs involving CETA students from Madison and St. Clair counties, now underway at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center.

Allow district custodians to attend a special instruction seminar at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, scheduled

April 30, and pay a registration fee of $30.

Supt. Robert N. Vickers announced the Granite City Army Installation will be the location for the district's All Sports banquet, set for May 12.

He also reported on proposed activities at the spring meeting of the Illinois Association of School Boards' Southwest Illinois Division, taking place April 14 at Belleville West High School.

No decision was made on a request to use Venice school facilities for the summer recreation program, sponsored by the Venice Park District.

AIR CONDITIONER. BEIS ARE TAKEN. E. M. Vaughn, Collinsville, reported Monday that a storm door and inner door had been broken on a house trailer at 2708 Harding and a window air conditioner and two beds are missing.

HURT AT CROSSING. An ambulance took Stacey Scarborough, a St. Louisan, to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday after the right front of her northbound auto was hit by the front of a westbound Norfolk & Western Railway engine operated by Joseph Fink, 28, Wood River. She was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way at the Edwardsville Road rail crossing during a snowstorm.

News notes

With Senate confirmation completed, Frederick Hess, a Belleville lawyer, is being sworn in as the new U.S. attorney for the Southern District of Illinois.

Circuit Judge Joseph Barr ruled at a hearing Wednesday morning that petitions are sufficient to call an election on creating a fire protection district in the Cloverleaf and East Madison area. He has not yet set an election date.

Common Cause is urging Cong. Melvin Price to disclose the amount he deducted for Washington living expenses on his 1981 income tax return, but an aide said he does not plan to seek repeal of congressmen's new tax break, which was passed 363-47 in an unrecorded by-name vote.

The engineer at the Lock and Dam 26 replacement project says northbound tows collided with the river leg of the cofferdam during recent high river stages. He is asking that pilots and masters take extra caution when passing the construction site, especially during high river conditions.

The U.S. Housing and Urban Development Department has rejected a plea by the Madison County Housing Authority for more federal funds to help it pay for a program seeking a greater racial mix in its housing projects. It will receive $275,000 in a HUD subsidy for its housing program for 1982 instead of the $427,000 requested. MCHA is accused of non-compliance with the ban on discrimination in placing housing applicants.

DRUG DRIVING ARREST. Richard Genovese, 31, of 2825 Marshall Ave., was arrested at 10 p.m. Wednesday for driving while under the influence of narcotic drugs, after a police chase from the 2900 block of Nameoki Road to Wilson and Marshall avenues. He also was charged with improper lane usage. It was alleged that at 9:45 p.m. his car had backed three times against the auto of Doris Bernitz of the 2400 block of Washington Avenue while Genovese was waiting to make a left turn at Nameoki Road and Garfield Avenue.

BAPTIST CHURCH OFFICE RANSACKED. A secretary's office was ransacked and two adding machines were reported missing from 22nd St. Baptist Church, 2800 Twenty-Second St., at 11 a.m. Monday, it was reported to Granite City police.

Edgar proposes mandatory insurance for motorists

A program to require all Illinois motorists to carry liability insurance or face mandatory fines and loss of driving privileges has been proposed by Secretary of State Jim Edgar.

Edgar called his mandatory insurance program "enforceable and fiscally practical" because it would help reduce the number of uninsured motorists on the road at a minimum cost and without setting up a new bureaucracy to enforce the program.

Edgar noted that his program differed from previous proposals which both he and former Secretary of State Michael Howlett opposed that would have required the spending of millions of dollars and hiring of hundreds of new state employees to retrieve license plates from car owners who let their insurance lapse or who canceled it.

"This mandatory insurance program combines the best elements of the 31 states that have similar programs, and should prove to be an effective, enforceable and fiscally practical solution to one of the biggest hazards facing responsible Illinois motorists today."

"The Department of Insurance estimates that more than 1.2 million of Illinois' 5.6 million passenger cars — or about 20 percent — are being operated without any kind of insurance, whatsoever."

"As a result, responsible, insured motorists are at the mercy of more than a million irresponsible drivers who caused an estimated $100 million in personal injury and property damages in 1981 alone."

"Uninsured motorists will face mandatory fines for first offenses and suspension of drivers' licenses and registration for second offenses and police officers will be able to check proof of insurance whenever a motorist has been pulled over for a traffic violation or some other offense," Edgar said.

Edgar said his office has worked closely with state Rep. William Laurino (D-Chicago) to draft the legislation, which will be amended on to an existing mandatory insurance bill Laurino has already introduced.

"Rep. Laurino has been the leading proponent of mandatory insurance legislation and I am happy to have his support as we try to solve this serious problem. We will continue to work closely as this matter is considered by the General Assembly," Edgar said.

The major provisions of the Edgar Mandatory Insurance Program are:

A highly visible warning regarding the requirement for insurance would be included on the registration card, with the owner's signature attesting to liability coverage on the vehicle prior to operation.

Vehicle owners will be required to carry proof of insurance.

Police officers will be authorized to check for proof of insurance any time a vehicle is stopped for a traffic violation or another offense. A ticket would be written if no proof is shown.

To apply for the first conviction, $250 and suspension of the drivers' license and vehicle registration for six months for the second and subsequent convictions.

To apply for reinstatement after the mandatory six-month suspension period, the owner must file and maintain proof of insurance for at least a 36-month period.

A sunset provision will insure a timely review of the program's effectiveness after four years.

Currently under Illinois law, only certain vehicles and individuals are required to file some form of proof of insurance. Vehicles requiring such proof include those carrying passengers for hire and those that are leased.

Persons required to show proof of insurance include those who have committed some serious traffic offense which requires mandatory license revocation, such as drunk driving, reckless homicide and drag racing, and those individuals who have failed to pay a civil court judgment for accident-related damages.

Uninsured motorists who are involved in accidents and are potentially liable for damages under Illinois law have suspended until the damages are satisfied or a security payment is filed. Under Edgar's proposal, these motorists would have to file proof of insurance prior to reinstatement.

Parmley is advised of his rights on 2 manslaughter counts

James "Rob" Parmley Jr., 28, of 2500 Delmar Ave., reported to the Granite City police building at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday and then went to the City Hall, where he was advised of his rights by Associate Judge Paul J. O'Neill.

He was booked by police Tuesday on two counts of involuntary manslaughter and one count of unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

His wife was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Jan. 27 and remained in a coma until she died Feb. 10. Death was attributed to heart and respiratory arrest due to a drug overdose.

After reviewing the defendant's constitutional rights Tuesday, the judge approved Parmley's release on $10,000 cash bond, records show.

The three warrants reflect indictments returned by a Madison County grand jury.

Parmley is accused of twice injecting cocaine into his wife, Sandra, 26, during a party at their home Jan. 28 after a woman guest had been given one injection.

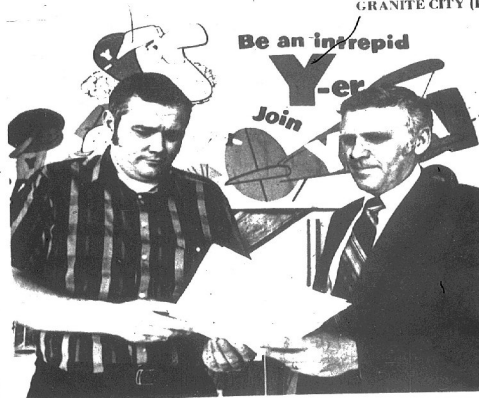

It is alleged that he allowed her to "suffer from an overdose of drugs for a period of several hours and failed to give or summon help until her physical condition was so deteriorated that she became comatose."

The grand jury was told that the final two injections occurred at 9 p.m. Jan. 28 and 1 a.m. Jan. 27 and that he still did not seek help when he was unable to wake her during his lunch hour. Their 5-year-old child called for an ambulance at 4 p.m. and she was rushed to the hospital.

News of the death was kept from official sources and a private and unannounced funeral was held. It was not until the inquest into the cause of death in mid-March that official word of the death became available.

The cocaine possession charge contends there were more than 30 grams in Parmley's possession, estimated to have a street value of $3,500.

Health authorities say laws and policies restrict what can be revealed when an apparent drug overdose occurs, and this approach to the non-fatal case continued after it became fatal.

SUSTAINING FUND DRIVE of the Tri-City Area YMCA is discussed last week by two of its key leaders. At left is Don Partney, chairman of the major gifts portion of the drive presently underway, talking with Joe Hassler, general chairman of the annual drive which supports youth programs and memberships. The sustaining drive begins May 10.

INVOLVED CATHOLICS MEETING WEDNESDAY
The next meeting of the Southern Illinois Divorced & Separated Catholics will be Wednesday, April 14, at St. Boniface Church's Eckhard Hall in Edwardsville, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Dean Aerne of Amco Plumbing & Heating Co., Granite City, will be there to offer home plumbing hints. Everyone is being welcomed to attend.

More information is available from the Rev. Ken Venverthos at St. Boniface Church, 1-656-6450, or Carol Lynch, 1-286-6302.

Mortuary officials say they are governed by what the family desires when deciding whether to publicly disclose that a death and funeral have taken place.

In the death of Mrs. Parmley, an unspecified family member asked that there be no announcement and this request was complied with.

As a consequence, the public's ability to discover and note the loss of life and the alleged felonies was hampered until police and prosecutors intervened, officials acknowledged.

Steals camera, stereo equipment
A burglar ransacked all rooms at the apartment of Norman Haskett, 2498 Delmar Ave., he reported at 7:50 p.m. Monday. Entry was gained by breaking the glass in a rear door and reaching inside to unlock it.

Among the items stolen were an amplifier-receiver, valued at $500, two stereo speakers, $300, a 35 millimeter camera, $120, and a reel-to-reel tape deck.

Wind damage study to be completed this week

According to the architect of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's new Multipurpose Building, the damage to the structure should total about $100,000.

The architect, William Thompson of Thompson Associates of Troy, said that figure was only an estimate. Weekend gusts of winds up to 46 miles per hour are blamed for the damage. So far, sources say, the wind has twisted steel supports in the unfinished lobby area.

The Multipurpose Building has been under construction since May 18, 1981. Officials said the project is on schedule and is expected to be completed early next year. A gymnasium, assembly hall and additional classrooms are to be included in the building. The Assarelli Construction Co. of Kankakee is the general contractor, and the Illinois Capital Development Board, Springfield, has responsibility for the project until it is completed.

Traditions of Easter have historical significance

Traditions of egg decorating have enriched the myths and legends of many cultures, and have delighted people of all ages around Easter time for centuries.

Popular beliefs, imagination and craftsmanship have turned eggs decorated into a highly developed and diversified folk art. The egg itself possesses the secret of life; it symbolizes a "rebirth" and is often associated with Easter, spring, dawn and creation. All involve a beginning and, in one form or another, almost every living thing comes from or can be traced back to an egg of some sort.

Many years before the birth of Christ, the Persians and Egyptians were coloring eggs. And, while the Jews do not celebrate Easter, they, too, colored eggs at approximately the same time of the year, during their Passover season. In some parts of the world, Jews still use colored eggs for Passover and other religious celebrations. Because of the coincidental nearness of Passover and Easter, Christians may have gotten the idea for colored eggs from the Jews and incorporated it into their Easter celebration.

In many European countries, it was the custom on Easter day to have a "tapping" contest where children would knock the ends of eggs together to see who could keep his egg unbroken the longest. Egg-tossing and egg-rolling games were brought to the United States by German settlers, as was the concept of the "Easter Bunny." Because rabbits multiply rapidly and are a symbol of fertility, they became associated with the celebration of Easter. According to legend, the Pagan goddess of Spring, Eostre, turned a bird into a rabbit. This may explain why, in some areas, the Easter Bunny delivers baskets full of colored eggs to children on Easter morning.

Some of the early German and Pennsylvania Dutch traditions and customs are still in existence today. The most common tradition, still practiced, is hiding eggs for children to find on Easter morning. Both parents and children color them during Easter week, leaving the eggs for the Easter Bunny to hide on Easter Eve. If an egg is particularly beautiful, it may be kept to treasure as a work of art or given as a gift to a special friend.

The various methods of decorating eggs also have become traditions. Today, a few people still color their eggs by boiling them in natural materials such as

Mental Health Services joins Job Fair lineup

Winter damage to county wheat is now evident

By RONALD CORNWELL
County Farm Adviser

Winter damage is showing up in some of the less winter-hardy varieties of wheat in Madison County.

I checked with Barry Jacobson, University of Illinois plant pathologist. He indicated they had received wheat samples from some of the surrounding counties and the cultures indicated few disease pathogens were present in the samples. This means the damage is likely due to winter injury.

In January, we had one weekend with temperature in the range of 15 to 20 degrees below zero, with a lot of wind and no snow cover. The lack of snow cover and the winds added to the potential of wheat injury.

Wheat growers have plenty of time to assess the wheat damage situation before deciding what to do. Varieties showing limited amounts of damage will not likely be affected.

Wheat varieties showing severe damage may not tiller properly and there may be a severe stand reduction which would result in a yield reduction.

Many seed companies base their population recommendations on harvest populations and not on the number of seeds planted. It is up to the farmer to plant a high enough planting time population to result in the desired harvest population.

Corn populations are reduced because not all kernels germinate and emerge. Some kernels or plants are lost to insects or disease. The rotary hoe and cultivator may destroy other plants.

Reckless charge after 2 parked cars are struck

Richard E. Grider, 24, of 1911 Grand Ave., was charged with reckless driving following an accident last week in which the auto he was operating allegedly struck two parked vehicles in the 1200 block of Twenty-Second Street.

Grider sustained an injury and was escorted by officers to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment and then taken to police headquarters. He was released upon posting his driver's license.

A passenger in the auto, Daniel L. Reisinger, 205 Madison Ave., Madison, also was reported injured.

The accident occurred when Grider attempted to make a right turn from Benton Street onto 22nd Street, collided with a stop sign and struck a parked car belonging to Thelma Blanchard, 1209 Twenty-Second Street.

The Blanchard auto was pushed into another parked vehicle, owned by Minda Maury, also of 1209 Twenty-Second St. That auto was then struck by Grider's car, which overturned, according to official reports.

2 CHARGED WITH DUTY VIOLATIONS

Two Granite City men suspected of driving under the influence have been arrested and charged with DUI violations.

Thomas E. Post, 49, of 1708a Delmar Ave., was cited by Illinois State Police at Highway 111 and State Aid 35 last week; and Arthur P. Buckner, 36, of 184 Benton St., was arrested early this week in the 1700 block of Camp Jackson Road in Cahokia.

Laid-off workers hear about hiring in Texas

Willing Workers of America, a new self-directed organization of laid-off workers from various bi-state metropolitan area companies, heard about job opportunities in Texas and in the local region at a meeting last week at the Granite City Jaycees Hall, 1885 Poplar St.

The group was organized here by former employees of the now closed A. O. Smith Corp. plant, but membership is open to all laid-off workers.

Its primary objective is geared to assisting members obtain employment. Meetings have been held once a month since January.

Richard Carr, a former Granite City man now living in Houston, Tex., expressed his views about job opportunities in that area.

Carr said many jobs available in the vicinity of Houston are in the $5 to $6 an hour bracket. However, longshoremen are now earning upwards of $12 an hour, he added.

He explained that housing was expensive there and limited, but once a local address is established employment could be found.

Another speaker was Dorothy Williams, manager of the Granite City Job Service Office, who provided information concerning various services her office provides and answered questions from the floor.

Among those attending the meeting were 21 newcomers to the group. A list of companies that are new to the area or which have recently expanded was given to all members for possible job prospects.

Job leads also were provided by individuals who had been to specific companies seeking work and knew of openings.

Four members have become employed since the group met previously, it was noted.

All laid-off workers are being encouraged to attend the next session, scheduled at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 24, at the Jaycees Hall, which is located on Poplar Street, one block off Route 3, just north of the Granite City Army Installation.

State Representative Sam Wolf of Granite City (55th District) will be the guest speaker on April 24.

Singapore is program topic

Mrs. Jane Laule Stevens presented a cultural program for members of Precipitor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, on the locales of two Beta Sigma Phi Chapters.

One in the capital and same named city of the now independent state of Singapore and the other in the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong. Included in her presentation was the fact that the City of Lions, as Singapore is known, being a great commercial center annually sees 3,000 cargo, passenger and other ships pass through the largest port in Asia, which is also served by some 20 major airlines.

She continued her program noting that northward on the South China Sea, Hong Kong, with its magnificent harbor also is the site of a huge international trade but not without problems, however.

Political unrest of long standing in that part of the world has caused an already crowded colony to become beset with trying to absorb refugees who daily pour into its over-populated areas.

Despite the resultant problems with housing, medical care, and sometimes even the most basic municipal services, the people and government of Hong Kong somehow seem to cope with the situation. One example of amenities offered is free elementary schooling which continues to be available to young students.

Miss Marilyn Lumpkins, president, officiated at the business segment held in the home of Mrs. Carol Cathy. She announced that judging of the scrapbooks and years books will be conducted by the Alton Chapters in April, and all books must be in no later than Saturday, April 10.

Award for the winning books will be presented at the Founders Day dinner which is planned for April 28 at Mr. Yac's Restaurant.

During the program hour, Mrs. Cathy displayed books published in 1980 on Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

At the conclusion of the meeting all members gathered in the family room which was decorated with yellow streamers. A decorated table centered with a wedding cake and gifts was set up to honor Mrs. Stevens, who was recently married.

Others attending were Arlene Halderman, Dolores Dorich, Norma Raine, Linda Koenig, Ruth Stoyanoff, Lora Van Lombard, Martha Dyer, Barbara Jones, Terri Guldge and Evelyn Tolliver.

Tricia Linette McGee observed her third birthday at a party given by her parents, Walter McGee, 1310 Gladys Ave., Collinsville, former residents.

A dessert course was served by the hosts after the honoree opened her gifts. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Harper and Mrs. Bea McGee, grandparents, Mrs. Margaret Harris, a great grandmother, and Sharon Kline, Bob, David, Paul and Jeanne Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harper and Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gracey and Tawny and Linette Cagle.

"Make your reservations now and come dressed in a casual or western style for a fun, tax-deductible, evening and, at the same time, help in the fight against birth defects. If by some chance, you can't be with us on this occasion, your contribution in any amount will be welcome," Sen. Vadala bene said.

BILL TO AID VICTIMS OF VIOLENT CRIMES

New legislation would change the Illinois Criminal Code to provide victims of certain violent crimes with progress reports on the investigation and prosecution of the offense, and notification of the disposition of a case.

House Bill 2521 also calls for "prompt" return of property to the victim, protection from the offender, and availability of witness compensation, along with social or financial services.

Board of Review budget can't be slashed - Harris

By JIM SCHLUETER
The Madison County Board's finance committee got an idea about how hard it will be to slash 1983 budget expenditures when it met last week with Bob Harris of the county's Board of Review.

The Board of Review budget is the first the committee has examined concerning the financial crunch affecting the county. But Harris, of Granite City, told the board his budget couldn't be reduced.

"I can't find where I can possibly cut, and I'll go line item by line item with anyone and say why," Harris said.

Harris was responding to chairman Nelson Hagnauer's recent letter to the county board. Hagnauer instructed all committees to meet with department heads to come up with ways the county can cut $1.5 million in expenditures for fiscal year 1983.

Harris said most of the current budget of $31,700 goes to per diem salaries of the three Board of Review members who hear taxpayers' claims that they have been overassessed.

He said phone and postage expenses may exceed money budgeted for those items this year. However, he said he could transfer a possible surplus of funds earmarked for publishing legal notices to get the department budget to break even.

"We went down to the bare bones for this year's budget," Harris said.

In other matters, County Auditor Arthur Fields told the committee of a suggestion

Chief Circuit Judge Joseph Barr had for reducing costs. Fields said Barr's suggestion was to hire two or three attorneys on retainer for cases in which the public defender cannot be used because of a conflict. Currently, the circuit court has a line item of $21,000 to pay for outside attorneys whenever they are needed.

Under Barr's plan, the retained attorneys would be paid $300 a month, regardless of how much work they do for the county.

The finance committee decided to refer the matter to the county's judiciary committee.

Threatened by man with gun

An area man is being sought for questioning in connection with allegedly threatening to shoot Christopher Elmore, 123 Briarcliff Drive, at his residence during the weekend.

Elmore told police the man came to his house and pointed a .357-caliber revolver at him while making the threat. The man was accompanied by three other men.

The victim said he believes the threat evolved from a scuffle Elmore had with another man at his home earlier that night.

A vehicle matching the description of auto used by the assailant was stopped on Morrison Road by a Pontiac Beach police sergeant and a Madison County deputy sheriff.

The man driving the auto said he had borrowed the car. He is believed, however, to be one of the three men with the gun-wielding assailant.

No weapons were found in the vehicle and the driver was not detained, police said.

Q. How do I make payments into an IRA account? Is a lump sum required, or can monthly payments be made? Also, when do these contributions have to be made in order to take advantage of the tax deduction?

A. Your payments to an Individual Retirement Account may be made as best suits you. They can be made monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually, which, of course, would be a lump-sum payment up to the legal limit. An IRA may be opened and contributions made into the account up to the time you file your tax return, including any extensions you may request and be granted in filing your return. Those contributions may be deducted from your taxes for the preceding year.

The limits we mentioned above, of course, have been changed to 100 percent of your annual income, up to $2,000 or $2,250 if you have a non-working spouse.

Working couples may open individual IRAs with contributions based on individual incomes, each setting aside the minimum contribution of $2,000 per year.

SCHOLARSHIP EVENT TO BE APRIL 17

The fifth annual Scholarship Banquet, sponsored by Southern Baptist Church, 501 Bissell Ave., Madison, is to be held Sunday, April 17, in the church's lower auditorium. It was erroneously reported that the event was to be this Sunday.

Guest speaker Linda Crawl, a consumer educator and advisor for the Consumer and Homemaking Education Program for Madison and St. Clair counties.

A donation of $5 per person is requested to the banquet, an annual event to raise funds for $150 scholarships awarded each August to students entering college, trade or business school.

Percy seeking armor-piercing ammunition ban

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) has introduced legislation to ban the manufacture, sale and possession of armor-piercing handgun ammunition.

Prohibited under Percy's Police Officers Protection Act of 1982 would be handgun ammunition which, because it does not deform on impact, can penetrate bullet-proof vests, doors, and even automobile engine blocks.

"Originally designed to give police officers an edge over felons wearing bullet-proof vests, the ammunition has 'backfired' and become more of a danger to law enforcement officers than a protection."

"This menace can and should be removed from our streets," Percy said. "The police of our country risk their lives everyday to safeguard the security of citizens. We owe it to them to eliminate this threat to their safety and well-being."

Percy's legislation directs the attorney general to identify ammunition which is armor-piercing and to restrict its use.

The attorney general would also be required to seize restricted handgun ammunition when committing a crime would face a mandatory sentence of from one to 10 years in prison, in addition to the penalties provided for in their felony.

A court could not suspend sentence for such a conviction, or allow probation, and the prison term could not run concurrently with other prison terms imposed for the felony. Second violators would face from two to 25 additional years.

Importers, manufacturers, and dealers violating the Act could lose their licenses and be fined up to $10,000 and/or imprisoned up to 10 years.

Protecting the police officers who protect our citizens is serious business," Sen. Percy said. "The federal government has taken leadership in this area."

"Only at the national level do we have the authority to ban importers of these deadly bullets. State action is also needed, and I am pleased that the Republican leadership in the Illinois legislature has taken the initiative and is pushing for strong legislation."

Seminar Tuesday at Medical Center

St. Elizabeth Medical Center will present the first of the 1982 Community Seminars on Tuesday, April 13, at 7 p.m. in Pascal Hall. The seminar, dealing with back pain, will be given by Jacqueline Haug, R.P.T., director of the Physical Therapy Department at the Medical Center.

According to statistics, two out of every three people will suffer back pain at some time in their lives, since the back is the most injury-prone part of the body. These problems can cause lost work time, great expense, inconvenience and even disability. Because the back is such a complex system, pain may stem from something as simple as poor posture and fatigue or be a warning sign of serious injury or disease. At the seminar, Miss Haug will discuss the various causes of back pain and give tips on preventing injury. The Community Seminars are open to the public, free of charge. For reservations call the SEMC Public Relations Department at 798-3167.

Sunrise Service at Wilson Park ice rink

Dr. Arthur M. Vincent of St. Louis, will be the guest speaker at Easter Sunrise Services, sponsored by the Lutheran Bureau of the Tri-Cities, to be held in the ice skating pavilion at Wilson Park at 6 a.m. Easter Sunday.

Samuel Boda, pastor of St. John Lutheran Church. The half hour festival service also will be broadcast on WGN-AM for the benefit of shut-ins and the aged, who may be unable to attend services, Rev. Boda added.

Dr. Vincent is a former Lutheran Seminary professor and is currently a traveling evangelist who has made several evangelistic trips to India, Kenya, Africa, in a similar capacity later this year. A brass ensemble, under the direction of John T. Severine Sr., will open the service with brass fanfare and the musical group will also accompany the congregational singing. Coffee and donuts will be served following the service, Rev. Boda noted.

Energy theme at '82 World's Fair

By J. THOMAS
McNAMARA
Editor, Ill.-Lines,
Illinois Power Co.
"Energy Turns the World" is the theme of the 1982 World's Fair in Knoxville, Tenn., May 1 through Oct. 31. Eastern Tennessee is the energy capital of the United States. It is the home of the Tennessee Valley Authority, the nation's largest public utility.

The University of Tennessee, with its extensive energy research facilities and programs, also is located in Knoxville. And in nearby Oak Ridge is the National Atomic Laboratory, the nation's leading nuclear research facility.

The World's Fair will provide a forum for industries, nations, companies, states and public organizations to showcase progress and accomplishments in the fields of energy and related areas.

As a complement to the fair, three International Energy Symposia address worldwide energy questions. The first two already have been held and the third is scheduled for May 1982.

More than 30 countries including the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China were represented at the first, held Oct. 14 to 17, 1980.

They are designed to bring together energy experts, scientists, government leaders, heads of industry and academicians from throughout the world.

They will identify energy issues, evaluate international energy policies, and explore ways and means of creating greater energy productivity.

The goal is to develop a consensus on energy policy among international leaders.

During the 1982 World's Fair, a World Energy Congress will take place to present the conclusions to the world.

The 1982 World's Fair is the first ever held in the southeastern U.S., the first to be held in the U.S. in eight years, and the first to be held anywhere in the world since 1975.

Countries including Australia, Canada, the Federal Republic of Germany, France, Italy, Japan, the Republic of Korea, Mexico, Saudi Arabia, the United Kingdom, the Hungarian Republic, the People's Republic of China and the 10-nation European Community are participating.

Attendance has been projected at 11 million by Economics Research Associates, a nationally known research firm that has produced feasibility reports for several previous World's Fairs, the Olympic Games, Disneyland and Walt Disney World.

The amusement area will feature 15 exciting and unusual "adventures," including one of the largest ferris wheels in the world: a "Ranger Ride"—the first of its kind in the U.S., and a giant pirate ship.

The Fun Fair will also feature the following popular rides from around the world—Wave Swinger, Music Express, Kinetic Bumper Cars, Enterprising Children's Coaster, Motorcycle Jump, Rugged Buggy and carousel.

Visitors will be whisked around the 72-acre, mile-long site by a 70-foot high aerial gondola skyrise (1,600 people per hour), a chairlift (2,600 people per hour), a tramway, and along the Tennessee River by riverboat.

International exhibits scheduled include:

Australia—Windmills, solar energy, moving sidewalks and a little touch of "down under" flora in the form of eucalyptus trees and Australian fern trees will be featured.

Canada—Based on the theme "Resource Management Excellence through Technology, Innovation and Conservation," the Canadian exhibit will use videodisks, computers and a movie theater to tell the story of Canada's energy projects.

Japan—Japan's presentation will focus on that nation's efforts to develop and introduce alternative energy, the promotion of energy conservation and the impact on the Japanese lifestyle of new energy conservation measures.

Saudi Arabia—An authentic desert environment, complete with sand and camel, will be part of an exhibit by the Saudis focusing on development of solar energy in that region.

United Kingdom—The "pet-oil" age is the theme of the UK exhibit. British achievements in development of new energy sources, British ideas on the world's energy future, and Britain's highly successful approach to energy conservation in architecture, industry and transportation will be showcased.

United States—The largest national pavilion on the site, six stories high, the canister-shaped U.S. Pavilion will be solar powered.

Visitors to the U.S. Pavilion will be transported by escalator to the first of five descending exhibit levels. The Pavilion sweeps into the sky from the 1,200 foot long, 300-foot wide Waters of the World Lake.

Also, the sunspire is a 268-foot high structure, with a mammoth 70-foot wide glowing globe that has five levels. The first is an observation deck large enough to accommodate 184 people. The second is a kitchen where food will be prepared for the 216 people in the third level dining room and 180 people in the fourth level restaurant.

On the fifth floor is another observation deck that will hold 227 people.

The restaurants in the Sunspire have a capacity for 376 people; the observation decks, 411.

Passengers will be carried by three elevators to the five levels of the Sunspire globe at a rate of 350 feet per minute.

The Tennessee Amphitheater is a tension-fabric structure of dramatic design in which the state will present a musical production highlighting the heritage, traditions and people of Tennessee.

A wide array of other live themed shows, international entertainment, festive ceremonies and symphonies will also be staged in this 4,000 capacity entertainment showcase.

Twelve turn-of-the-century and Victorian buildings have been incorporated into the site, each restored to its original beauty.

They include the L & N Railway Station and Depot, the L & N Hotel, a pre-Civil War factory, seven Victorian homes and a candy factory.

A 100,000 square foot Technology and Lifestyle Center and an eight-story office tower, eight International Pavilion buildings, and an "elm tree" heater are among the other unique structures.

The TVA will sponsor "Floating Pavilions" on the Tennessee River at the southern boundary of the fair site. The exhibits will showcase energy conservation through climate control and tell TVA's story as the world's largest public utility.

If past World's Fairs can be an accurate judge of the future, such fairs give the world a remarkably accurate glimpse of the future. A World's Fair is a time machine, "affording the visitor a vivid look into the future."

A glance back through the history of the previous expositions is to see the unfolding of the history of the modern world.

At the Paris World's Fair in 1887, aluminum was introduced. Visitors tasted the world's first ice cream soda and shopped in the first department store.

At Philadelphia in 1876, Alexander Graham Bell was present with the telephone.

Also making their debut were the first typewriter and the Otis elevator, the latter opening the way for the construction of skyscrapers . . . and cities would never again look the same.

World's Fairs served as midwife to other forms of design structure and architecture. The 1878 fair in Paris gave birth to the Statue of Liberty.

The 1889 Paris World's Fair amazed the world with the Eiffel Tower.

The St. Louis World's Fair in 1904 gave the world the ice cream cone.

Television was unveiled at the 1939 New York World's Fair. Sputnik opened the Space Age at the 1958 Brussels Fair.

All through the years, each fair has put an indelible stamp on the history and the future of the world.

The World's Fair is the most important and influential fairs in recent times.

There also are many attractions and special points of interest within easy driving distance of Knoxville for World's Fair visitors interested in spending additional time exploring the East Tennessee region.

These include the Gatlinburg and Pigeon Forge areas—gateway cities to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and vacation resorts steeped in history, culture and beautiful scenery.

The Great Smokey Mountains National Park has more than 500,000 acres of majestic peaks, wooded slopes, rolling hills, hidden valleys and rushing streams and is America's most visited national park each year.

There are accommodations for 45,000 people per day in hotels, motels, inns, apartments, college dormitories, private homes and campsites in Knoxville and the nearby Gatlinburg-Pigeon Forge resort areas.

For hotel and motel lodging, call only (do not write) 615-971-1000, for supplemental housing (apartments, condominiums, unoccupied single family residences, dormitory rooms, and campsites) call 615-971-4000.

The World's Fair lodging office suggests calling as soon as possible for lodging if anyone is interested in visiting the World's Fair during the summer because reservations are tight.

Disorderly conduct charges were filed Monday against Larry J. Ryan, 48, of 1739 Edison Ave., Apartment 4, for allegedly playing loud music and pounding on a wall late at night, and Eddie Abney, 48, of 2124 Delmar Ave., for alleged public indecency in that block.

Warrant names board member

Daniel J. Partney, 32, of 1907 Johnson Road, a member of the Madison County Board, went to the police building at 7 p.m. Tuesday to be processed on a warrant alleging battery. He was released on $252 cash bond.

The complaint was signed by his former wife, Beverly Partney, after an incident was reported at 2:13 a.m. Saturday, April 3, at her home, 2601 Edison Ave.

She said he was at the residence to discuss details of a court ruling and failed to leave when requested, resulting in an argument in which she was grabbed by the arms and shaken.

A necklace was ripped off, Mrs. Partney was spit upon, a threat was voiced and she was struck and kicked on the legs, she contended. Officers said there were bruises and other marks on her arms and legs. She said he left after she threatened him with a poker.

GC police seize 3 pounds of cannabis, arrest 2 persons

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record
The scene: a garage at the rear of a home in the 100 block of Briarcliff. The time: 5:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The apparent activity: sale for $615 of 659 grams (amounting to a pound and six ounces) of cannabis (marijuana).

Within seconds, Granite City police intervened. Within minutes, two persons were in custody and 1,400 grams (three pounds and one ounce) of cannabis had been confiscated as evidence, along with the $615.

Officers reconstructed the alleged occurrences as follows: Jimmy D. Byrd, 21, Gillespie, Ill., entered the garage, put money on a table and picked up a green-stained brown paper bag.

He carried the paper bag, containing three bags of cannabis, to an auto in which there was a woman in the front passenger seat, with two young children in the back seat.

Placing the drugs behind the driver's seat, Byrd began to drive away but halted the car in the 100 block of Briarcliff.

Police were nearby but had not signalled for him to stop. When the wait continued, officers activated a flashing red light and Byrd emerged from the auto with the bag in his hand.

He was arrested for obstructing traffic and possessing cannabis. Officers next approached the garage structure, which housed an apartment, and a man consented to having the building searched. The police found:

—Behind a couch, a green trash bag that held two large clear plastic bags containing cannabis.

—Under a bed, several smaller plastic bags with cannabis.

—Behind a stereo, a clear bag containing cannabis.

—On the floor, a small plastic bag containing a drug compound.

—On a table, cash exceeding $600, a cannabis pipe, and a scale said to have had cannabis remnants on it.

The cannabis found in the garage building totaled 750 grams, slightly more than one pound, ten ounces, authorities say.

Felony warrants will be sought for prosecution of a Granite City on cannabis possession and delivery charges.

A man (not Jimmy Byrd) who was known to police was taken to the police building from the Briarcliff neighborhood and then was released after questioning.

Byrd was taken into custody and placed in jail pending the posting of bond on the two charges against him.

Handicapped Job Fair April 16

Parents of Special Education President Melba Grady has reported that final plans are being completed on schedule for the 1982 Job Fair for the Handicapped. Acceptance letters from 30 agencies and employers are in, she said. The Job Fair will be April 16 at Engelbert Hall at 10th Street and Washington Avenue in Madison from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The building is completely accessible and an interpreter for the hearing impaired will be there for assistance, when required.

Steve Balen, director of Region I Special Education, said he is pleased with the preparation of juniors' and seniors' resumes and their eagerness to experience opportunities to meet with prospective employers. The teachers and parents are being encouraged to assist the job seekers to know their interests and skills, to make the interviews as meaningful as possible. The people in the Quad-Cities Communities are well aware of the lack of jobs, at this time, he said. "In view of the situation, the sponsors of the Job Fair are indeed grateful to the following who have agreed to meet with the handicapped job seekers at the Job Fair," he noted. They are: CBTA, Coordinated Youth, Department of Rehabilitation, Guardianship and Advocacy Commission, Madison County Association for Retarded Citizens, Madison County Urban League, Mental Health Services, Organization to Assist the Handicapped (OATH), Special Services, Social Security, United Way, AAA Maintenance Janitorial Service, Cities of Granite City, Madison and Venice, Deluxe Janitor Service,

Department of Conservation, Emerson Electric Corp., First National Bank in Madison, Granite City Housing Authority, Granite City School District 9, Granite City Township, Hispanic Employment, Illinois Bell Telephone, IBM, Illinois Job Service and Madison County Savings and Loan. Also Madison School District 12, McDonnell-Douglas Corp., O'Dell Iron and Metal, Ponderosa Steak House, the Press-Record, Ravenelli's, RCA Service, River Bluff Girl Scout Council, St. Elizabeth Medical Center, U.S. Army Troop Support and Venice School District 3. A luncheon will be served to all of the agencies and employers, from 1 to 2 p.m., compliments of the sponsors. It is not too late for employers interested to arrange to attend the Job Fair. Information is available by calling Mrs. Grady at 877-5806.

ECONOMIC PEP TALK. William Warren, vice-president of Illinois Power Co., pledges IP's commitment to the development of its 427-acre Northgate Industrial Park here as soon as its Clinton Nuclear Power Plant is completed. Ironically, that project may be partially responsible for proposed electric and natural gas rate hikes that Quad-Cities have recently launched a petition drive against. Warren was the guest speaker at the "graduation" ceremonies for the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Economic Development Committee Thursday night at Charlie's Restaurant. Members were told by Drew Karandjoff (right), president of Granite City Trust Bank, to "stay together" and explore the development possibilities that exist locally. Alan Richardson (right), Chamber manager, asks the members help in building a data bank to supply to prospective industries.

Bar offers pamphlet on divorce laws

A pamphlet entitled "Family Law" now is available from the Illinois State Bar Association explaining the Illinois "Dissolution of Marriage Act." Answers to the most common questions about dissolution (divorce) and legal separation are provided, including what court actions are necessary in obtaining a dissolution of marriage.

The pamphlet describes the court proceedings leading to a dissolution of marriage, residential requirements, and the grounds for misconduct that must be proven before the dissolution can be granted. Also included is general information about legal separation and maintenance (formerly called alimony) and marital property rights. Special problems sometimes encountered by parties involved in a dissolution also are explained, including protecting children or property while a petition for dissolution is pending, and changing maintenance or support provisions after dissolution has been granted.

The Illinois State Bar Association offers the pamphlet free to individuals and bulk quantities are free to not-for-profit organizations, such as libraries and social service agencies. To obtain copies of the Family Law pamphlet, individuals may write to: Director of Public Affairs, Illinois State Bar Association, Illinois Bar Center, Springfield, Ill. 62701. Pamphlets are available for sale to law firms, banks and other for-profit organizations. Other pamphlets available from the Illinois State Bar Association include: Adoption, Advice to Newly Marrieds, Auto Accidents, Buying a Home, Buying on Time, Careers in the Law, How a Lawyer Computes Fees, Joint Tenancy, Know Your Lawyer, Starting a Business, Wills, and Your Rights if Arrested.

Some license plates expiring Secretary of State Jim Edgar is reminding motorists that midnight Friday, April 30, is the deadline for car owners with license plate registrations expiring in April to display the orange 1983 stickers in the upper left corner of their rear license plates. "Approximately 580,000 renewal applications have been mailed to registered owners who are currently displaying the brown 1982 stickers that expire in April," Edgar said. Applications made by mail should be in the Secretary's office no later than Thursday, April 15, to ensure delivery by the April 30 deadline. License plate stickers may be purchased over the counter at 1,200 banks, savings and loans, currency exchanges and credit unions participating in the license renewal program. Effective Saturday, May 1, anyone driving a car with an expired brown, April, 1982, sticker will be subject to a fine for improper registration.

GC bartenders contenders in 'ugly' contest

Hundreds of area bartenders are in the midst of a month-long spree of "getting ugly" as participants in the third annual MS "Uglyest Bartender Contest."

Sponsored by several regional radio stations and Multiple Sclerosis, the contest began on March 17 and will run through April 19 to raise funds to help in the fight against MS. The top 50 fund-raisers include four Granite Cityans — Phelbe Andrews of Arky's, Ruth King of Smokey Joe's, Deborah Reeves of The Other Place and Beverly Young of Hoppe's. Participating bartenders receive one vote for every 25 cents collected from bar patrons. To obtain as many votes as possible, the bartenders are putting on zany events to encourage the public to support their efforts.

Some on-going successful promotions include selling "ugly" insults and "ugly" kisses, and having "ugly happy hours" and "ugly T-shirt nights."

Area residents are being encouraged to vote for their favorite bartenders in the contest by making 25-cent donations to attending the "ugly" events. At the end of the contest, the bartender with the most votes will win a trip for two to Las Vegas courtesy of Ozark Air Lines. All proceeds from the contest will go toward supporting MS research and local services.

Quad-Cityans have paid for Nameoki Road repairs; now is the time we get something for our taxes

Today's editorial cartoon makes light of potholes large enough in which to lose a bus and several cars. We believe it is funny, but the potholes it satirizes are not. Preparing state income tax forms before the deadline one week from now, most Quad-City area residents have been reminded of the state taxes they have paid this year. Oh, if only we had that money back to spend as we pleased.

We would be tempted to devote a portion of it, voluntarily, to fixing Nameoki Road, once and for all.

Quad-City area residents have paid their fair share of state taxes to repair and maintain state roads and deserve a fair share of the work done locally. Nameoki Road has cried out too long for permanent repairs and resurfacing.

After the severe winter, the state came through and put temporary patches in the worst places, but anyone familiar with street repairs knows that temporary patches are exactly what the name implies. We guess the state forgot how temporary the patches its crews applied were.

Most have broken out, leaving the same obstacle course of holes, broken pavement and crumbling concrete we saw immediately after the two-foot snow melted.

For years, the state has pledged to try and put Nameoki Road (State Route 203) on its resurfacing priority schedule "next year." Quad-Cityans have waited patiently as "next year" has come and gone many years in a row.

Nameoki Road needs more than resurfacing. Anyone traveling in either the outside lanes after a moderate rain storm will testify, the water builds up deeply along the edges to flood out most vehicles, thus reducing the busy four-lane to a two-lane street, until the water finally drains.

Department of Transportation, we have paid our taxes faithfully. We have paid our fair share for road resurfacing and repairs in the state. We have helped keep Chicago road crews employed year-round for years and have helped keep state roads in other areas in good repair.

Now is the time we get something for our money, other than bills for realignments of ball joints and shock absorbers.

We are tired of being second-class citizens. We want to keep our main state highway in condition and have every right to join with the city government in demanding that Nameoki Road be properly repaired — this year and not next.

Press-Record, Herald proud of news contest awards

Pardon our bragging, but we're darn proud.

The Press-Record's long-standing commitment to bring you the best local news coverage possible, packaged in a pleasing format and written in an easy-to-understand style, has once again been recognized among peers.

The Press-Record and our sister newspaper, the Collinsville Herald (both affiliated with the Post Corporation of Appleton, Wis., and both managed by Paul Halbert) were recognized frequently during the annual awards ceremony of the Southern Illinois Editorial Association's Better Newspaper Contest last week in Carbondale.

The Press-Record won six awards, including one of which we are most proud — second place in best local news coverage, the area we consider our "bread and butter." Of all non-daily newspapers in the state south of Peoria, and there are quite a few, only one newspaper with a circulation of more than 5,000 was judged superior to the Press-Record in local news coverage.

We also are proud of a third place award in the best photo competition, a category which was open to all newspapers, regardless of circulation. Pat Foley's photo of a drummer in a parade, seen through his drum from the camera near the ground, rather than from above, won him an SIEA award. Pete Stehman of the Collinsville Herald took top honors in the photograph category with a photo of a fireman inside the rubble after a fire.

The Press-Record also was honored with certificates of merit in the general excellence, best editorial page and best use of photography categories and was honored in the best editorial class for an editorial written by Gary Schneider warning youths and adults about the Illinois mandatory sentencing law which took effect Jan. 1 and warning them to think before they commit the crime of burglary.

The Herald was the leading award winner in its circulation category, earning nine awards, including four first-place plaques. Top Herald awards were for a feature by Karl Monroe, for best sports coverage, for best photograph and a first-place tie with the Tazewell News for general excellence.

Our Collinsville sister also earned honorable mentions in open class competition for an editorial and a feature story, a third in best overall makeup, second in best use of photographs and an honorable mention for best editorial page.

Among the dailies in the contest, the News-Tribune of Peoria won the general excellence award and nine other awards. The Alton Telegraph was honored for the best editorial page and the Peoria Journal Star for best local news coverage among dailies.

Awards are always nice. Awards selected by editors and newspapermen are even nicer, but winning does not call for sitting back and enjoying the limelight.

As we said at the beginning, we are proud to be honored for our local news coverage. We believe that is the reason we remain in business and pledge to continue the hard work that has not only won us many awards, but has made the Press-Record your hometown newspaper since 1903.

Individual right to have a gun is affirmed

To the Editor:

A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed." Amendment II—U.S. Constitution.

In what is probably the most extensive legal research yet made public on the Second Amendment "right to keep and bear arms," the U.S. Supreme Court has released a formal report citing "clear proof" based on historical and legal evidence supporting the individual right of Americans to arms ownership.

Prepared by the Judiciary Committee's Subcommittee on the Constitution, chaired by U.S. Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah), the report states: "The conclusion is thus inescapable that the history, concept and wording of the Second Amendment indisputably indicate that what is protected is an individual right of a private citizen to own and carry firearms in a peaceful manner."

Entitled "The Right to Keep and Bear Arms," the report contains nearly 200 pages covering 11 centuries of legal development.

It not only contains findings on Second Amendment history, but also an analysis of firearms law enforcement, an anthology of legal decisions, articles by constitutional scholars and other studies.

From English common law to the British Declaration of Rights in the seventeenth century to the American Bill of Rights a century later, the historical evidence overwhelmingly supports the individual right of Americans to own and carry firearms in a peaceful manner.

The report "militia" first came into use around 1858, it was understood designating the entire body of arm-owning citizens. The Second Amendment, the report states, could not have been intended to protect modern National Guard units, since these were never mentioned in the Constitution.

"That the National Guard is not the militia referred to in the Second Amendment is even clearer today," the report finds. "The modern National Guard was specifically intended to avoid status as the constitutional militia..."

In addressing present firearms law enforcement in this country, the report gives unqualified endorsement to reform of the Gun Control Act of 1968. Reform legislation has been introduced by U.S. Sen. James McClure and U.S. Rep. Harold Volkmer.

"The right of federal firearms laws is necessary to protect the most vital rights of American citizens," the report states. "Such reform would enhance vital protection of constitutional and civil liberties of those Americans who choose to exercise their Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms," the report notes.

In his preface to the report, Sen. Hatch emphasizes that the evidence is indisputable.

"What the Subcommittee uncovered was clear," he said, "and long-lost proof that the Second Amendment to our Constitution was intended to protect the individual right of the American citizen to keep and carry arms in a peaceful manner, for the protection of his family, and his freedoms."

Praises Weber on prosecution

To the Editor:

Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber and his staff have once again proven themselves as capable defenders of law and order. I refer to a recent trial involving a 12-year-old girl who was allegedly beaten repeatedly and then forced into prostitution by a pimp; however, the man was found guilty by a jury.

Weber sometimes receives criticism from his opponents for his zealous prosecution of those accused of breaking the law. The case just mentioned involving the little girl who was forced into prostitution is no exception. It appears that the defendant's attorneys are joining the long list of disgruntled lawyers who have felt the determined fervor held by State's Attorney Don Weber and his staff when prosecuting accused sex offenders. Weber was quoted in a recent newspaper report as saying the victim told him after the verdict, "I'm okay; I'm 13. What about the 8 year olds?" Weber was then himself reported as saying, "It's time for adults to believe stories like this and prosecute some of these maniacs preying on our little girls. We're looking at an epidemic of molesting children."

I applaud Weber's commitment to the prosecution of accused rapists, child molesters and pimps of the full extent of the law. I hope that other concerned parents and citizens will join me in extending their gratitude to this brave State's Attorney and his staff.

Rea is grateful for editorial

To the Editor:

I am writing to you because of the Feb. 18 editorial concerning my retirement.

It would be totally ungracious of me not to express my appreciation to the writer for the very kind comments in the editorial. Would you please thank the appropriate person?

The comparison to my good friend, Vic Anderson, was especially kind.

There is a small sign on my office which reads, "It is surprising how much you can get done if you don't care who gets the credit." I am genuinely grateful for the recognition accorded my work, particularly because of the spontaneity of the editorial. Thank you.

Federal agencies to provide additional aid to farmers

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), both agencies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, are providing cooperative services to farmers.

ASCS has announced an April 16 deadline for filing in the 1982 acreage reduction program for corn, grain sorghum, and soybeans. Farmers who have already reported planted acreage for All-Risk Crop Insurance can file their acreage report by April 16 if they participate in the ASCS acreage reduction program," says Crawford.

According to provisions of the new Farm Bill, ASCS disaster payments will not be available for acreage reduction programs. All-Risk Crop Insurance issued by a private insurer before Jan. 1, 1982, and reinsured by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Crawford, that was previously considered uninsurable may now be covered by All-Risk Crop Insurance. The request for coverage should be made by the farmer through his local agent by April 30.

"Additionally," says Crawford, "FCIC has initiated an acreage yield plan, which permits policyholders to purchase insurance coverage based on their production records."

The requirements for IYC are that a farmer must have verifiable acreage and yield records for at least three most recent consecutive years. "Reduced yields may be used for up to 10 years, if available," says Crawford.

"Producers who previously cancelled insurance on 1981 spring crops may now reapply for reduced yields and maintain any premium discount they have earned for good experience," says Crawford. "The must reinstate, however, before April 30."

MAYORS, PLANNERS MEET LEGISLATORS

A meeting of the Executive Committees of the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors and the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Planning Commission will be held April 15 in Springfield with the legislators to discuss various items of interest to both organizations.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the State House Inn, Springfield.

Granite City and Madison schools were dismissed at about 2:45 p.m. yesterday due to a warning that a tornado might strike within a few miles of St. Louis. The Venice school chorus, which had scheduled a hour-long rehearsal following the dismissal at 3:15 p.m., was dismissed at 3:15. While no violent windstorm developed here, students appeared to be in agreement with school authorities that the early dismissal was wise.

(Ed. note: April is the name date of a "small" tornado struck in the Quad-City area in 1981 and is the date that a violent storm swept through this area this year.)

Moral issues on TV show

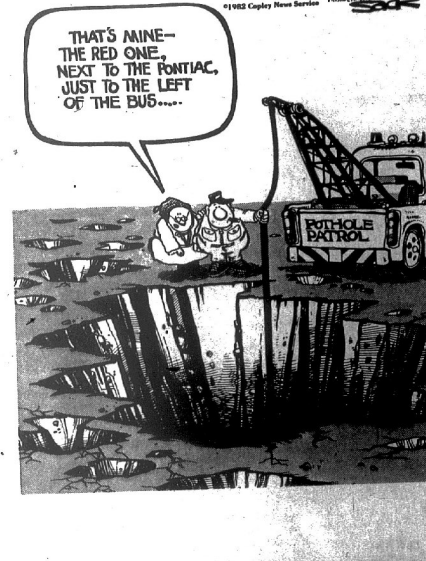

To the Editor:

The Old Time Gospel Hour will present a one-hour program in rebuttal to the recently aired program that included Ed Amer and Jane Fonda.

It will be on Channel 11 at 7 a.m. and on Channel 30 at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, April 11th.

Everyone interested in the moral issues facing America today should make an effort to see this special.

Explorers emphasizing careers, service

To the Editor:

Exploring is the young-adult division of the Boy Scouts of America. Explorers are young men and women aged 14 through 20 who join Explorer posts organized by businesses, industries, churches, schools, government agencies, professional associations, civic clubs, labor unions, sports clubs and other community organizations.

The programs of these posts match the interests of the young people with the adult know-how and program resources of the organization.

For example, a computer center could design an Explorer program in data processing and invite young adults interested in this field to join. Or a church might have a number of adults interested in outdoor activities who could provide leadership and program help to an outdoor Explorer post.

The program of each Explorer post is developed around the interests of youth members and the interests and capabilities of the adults in the organization.

Exploring is dynamic, and its program is flexible because the program is designed by those involved. Posts can specialize in a variety of subjects, planning programs which offer career, citizenship, social, service, outdoor and fitness activities.

It is through activities that the Explorer post serves the lives of those who participate. The purpose is to provide organizations and young adults a program specifically designed to improve character, citizenship and leadership. By providing activities centered around citizenship, it helps prepare young adults for leadership, civic participation and pride in our American heritage. Social events help them to develop skills in dealing with people and to grow in understanding of themselves and their personal and religious values.

When the program turns to help youth to gain physically, and attain a sense of emotional well-being. When service projects are conducted, they encourage respect for the desire to help others.

Outdoor activities teach self-reliance and an appreciation for our environment.

Career exploration helps to provide a better understanding of America's society, economic system and government through hands-on career experiences. The program of an Explorer post is guided by the necessary adult leaders, who are advisors, and committee persons who are willing to share their time and experience.

In the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America, we have posts, which have built gardens, climbed mountains, restored cars for the elderly, taught the handicapped to swim, gone sailing, rode horses, assisted in the apprehension of criminals, gone on water conservation trips, and participated in teaching people to read.

The Exploring program is limited only by the imagination and involvement of its members. All of the things that Exploring is, came about as the result of extensive research on the part of the Boy Scouts of America to discover from young adults themselves what was desired by youth. The research revealed these major items:

—83 percent of those questioned had a specific career or hobby interest.

—94 percent wanted to work with an adult who shared the same interest.

—The majority want to belong to a coed organization.

—Interest in team sports and person-to-person competition is high.

—They want to show what they can do on their own.

—They want to participate in leadership and planning, expecting and accepting the advice and support of adults.

—They want hands-on experiences, not lectures or movies.

—And it must be fun, challenging, exciting and worthwhile.

All of this and much more is being done today by posts throughout our area, and each Explorer is a part of it all.

Our scout executive for the Cahokia Mound Council is William R. Monical. The service center is located at 2016 Delmar Ave., Granite City (telephone 976-0882).

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals has recommended to approve rezoning and trust tracts to develop a 772-acre complex in Chouteau and Edwardsville Townships. Action on the project, which has drawn criticism on ecological and drainage factors, is due at the final meeting of the Madison County Board of Supervisors on April 28. Objections are based mainly on the possible impact of children in the Granite City School District and a resulting effect of school taxes, and on ecological matters relating to drainage and use of American Bottom lands for purposes other than agriculture.

Warrior netters fall to Althoff, 0-4 on season

Menendez, Sheridan win singles matches

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY The undefeated Belleville Althoff netters visited the Warriors' home court Tuesday, only to extend their season win record to six. The Crusaders won the pairing 4-2.

The Warriors, 0-3 this season, began the match in grand fashion in the first singles match as John Menendez easily disposed of Althoff's Brian McGovern in straight sets 6-1, 6-2.

In second singles competition, South's Matt Sheridan overcame insurmountable odds to defeat Althoff's Tim Gagen 3-6, 7-6, 6-2.

Sheridan, trailing 6-1 in a second set tie breaker, placed, pounded and dropped five straight points to even the tie breaker. He held Gagen to a single point for the duration to win the tie breaker 9-7 and the second set.

For Althoff's Gagen, it was the beginning of the end.

Confident after his second set come-from-behind victory, Sheridan handily stole the third set, 6-2, for the victory. "Sheridan's good," said Warrior netter coach Rich Harmon. "It's still early, wait until the end of the season, he'll really be something to watch."

For the Warriors, the first two singles victories were sweet, but by the pairing's end those would be their only victories.

In the third singles match South's Charles Miles fell to Mike Murphy in straight sets 6-1, 6-1. From the beginning Miles had difficulty keeping the ball in bounds. Althoff's Jeff Pratt kept South's Kevin Dickerson winless as he overpowered his way to two 6-0 sets. In number two doubles competition, Althoff's Bill Burnsworth and Eddie Ablex defeated Miles and Brian Sparks 6-2, 6-3.

Don Kaltmayer and Tom Hitt of South lost to Althoff's Greg Lintz and Murphy in straight sets 6-1, 6-1.

Because of the length of the Sheridan-Gagen singles match, the first doubles match featuring Menendez and Sheridan against McGovern and Gagen was not completed. Althoff was leading the match one set to none before the match was called because of darkness.

The Warriors' next match is Monday against Edwardsville at home.

Steeler baseball game snowed out in third inning

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

WOOD RIVER — Granite City North's baseball game Wednesday with Wood River, postponed because of snow and cold weather, was a numbing experience for the Steelers.

Umpires called the game in the middle of the fourth inning with the teams tied 3-3. The game will probably be rescheduled and started in the first inning. No date has been announced.

The cold made hitting the ball painful because a poorly hit ball would sting the hands, but the biggest problem for the Steelers was trying to throw the ball. Jimmy Burton, the Steelers' starting pitcher against the Oilers, complained that he could have pitched better than he did. The reason?

"I couldn't feel the ball. My hands were numb, and I couldn't feel nothing. The wind was real cold. My face, arms, and shoulders were cold, but not as cold as my hands because I had warm clothes on, but there's nothing you can do about your hands out there," Burton said.

Burton had it easy compared to the infielders and outfielders. As a pitcher, Burton was moving his body regularly and could stay relatively warm. His infielders did not have that privilege. "The infielders and outfielders had to stand around up to five minutes before something came their way," Steeler coach Bob Stegemeier said. "It was really unfair for them (the team) to be out there."

"There wasn't anything they could do with their hands out there, and our uniforms aren't made for that type of weather," Stegemeier added.

In order to keep warm, the Steelers wore extra clothing — sweat shirts, thermal underwear, and jackets. Some of the Steelers got on the bus, which was turned on sometimes to keep the bus warm, but others braved the elements and stayed on the bus.

"Every inning after I got done pitching, I got on the bus and stayed on the bus until it was time to pitch again," Burton said.

This was the first time the Steelers had a baseball game postponed because of snow. This was even a first for Stegemeier.

"I've never been in a game as a player or coach which has been snowed out. I've been in plenty of games when it was cold and when it was wet, but never one which was snowed out," Stegemeier said.

Stegemeier was surprised with the Steelers' hitting in the adverse weather. North had five hits, all singles.

"I was surprised with our hitting. Everyone made pretty good contact. We had a couple of good hits against a kid (John Kell) who's not too bad," recovered from a first set loss to defeat Edwardsville 7-6, 5-0, 7-5.

In the final singles competition, Edwardsville's Dave Harvey defeated North's Jesse Byrd in straight sets 6-2, 6-1 to give the Tigers a three to one lead in singles competition.

In the only doubles match played, North's Mike Lauderdale and Scott Dennis fell to Edwardsville's Dominic Walsh and Mark Bealund 7-6, 6-4.

"I'm not at all that happy with the way we've been playing," said Van Burskirk. "These first two teams (Althoff and Edwardsville) are usually tough, though. They both have players who play indoors during the winter. Hopefully we'll be able to turn it around."

EDWARDSVILLE — An early spring sunset mercifully ended the Steelers' tennis match with Edwardsville last Thursday before the Tigers could add insult to an already defeated North tennis team.

After five matches, Edwardsville led the Steelers four matches to one, putting a possible victory out of reach. "The outcome was already decided," said North coach John Van Burskirk. "It was getting dark and I couldn't see playing the final two matches in the dark when Edwardsville had already technically won the match."

The final two matches that were cancelled because of darkness were the first and second doubles teams.

In first singles competition, Ken Shaw of Edwardsville defeated North's Kendall Whittington in straight sets 6-0, 6-0.

In the second singles competition, the Steelers picked up their only victory of the day as David Lipe defeated the Tiger's Tom Gorman 5-7, 7-6, and 7-5.

Baker refuses college offer

Gene Baker, Granite City South's virtuous soccer coach, has refused another college coaching offer.

Most recently, Baker has turned down an offer from NCAA Division I Cleveland State.

"It was quite a tempting offer — something you really think about, but I'm real happy at South," he said.

Just last year he declined an offer from Northern Illinois University.

He would not real out the possibility of accepting a college job in the future.

"I like this area, my family's here, and besides my kids are at the age where it'd be tough on them to relocate now. It's something I might consider in the future," he said.

During his nine years at South, he has compiled a 296-45-30 record, the best in the Bi-State and Chicago area. Those statistics reflect five straight state soccer championships.

Collinsville edged out Baker and the Warriors in the sectional finals last year. The Kahoks went on to win the state championship.

Weather 5, Sports 2.

What a week for sports. What a week for weather and the weathermen.

So far this week, the weather is leading all sports 5-2. Games, matches and meets all over the area have been cancelled, postponed and rescheduled.

Traditionally, Mother Nature is a fickle old woman the week before Easter Sunday, (commonly referred to many religions as Holy Week). One day she leaves the sun worshippers with a taste of spring, and the next day it'll be back to mittens, scarves and hooded coats.

This year has been no exception. Wind, rain, hail and most recently snow has made a shambles of athletic schedules.

Last Saturday for instance, both Granite City High Schools were to participate in the Belleville East Invitational track meet. Saturday's event was (are you ready for this) blown out. Gusts of winds up to 46 miles per hour made running a task not to mention its effects on the pole vault and discus events. So, the meet was rescheduled for Monday.

Monday it rained.

Rumor has it the meet's been rescheduled for July.

That would be fine, providing it's not scheduled for July Fourth. (We all know what happened to the fireworks at the VP Fair last summer on the riverfront.)

In some instances, coaches have given up all together. Tuesday the Granite City North baseball game against Hillsboro was rained out. Coaches have given up on that game altogether. It has not been rescheduled.

Yesterday, in another Steeler's game, the game was called off the third inning because of SNOW. Whatever happened to blooming daffodils, pollen, and April sun tans.

Lady Warriors fall to Comanches, Crusaders

GRANITE CITY — It certainly hasn't been ideal softball weather the past few days.

*Cold, 30 to 40 degree temperatures. Gusting winds. Rain. Snow.

Despite the adverse conditions, the Granite City South softball team took the field, losing to Cahokia on Tuesday, 16-0 and to Belleville Altoft yesterday, 7-3.

Altoft 7, GC South 3

The weather was ideal for football. The temperature was in the 30's. In the third inning, it started to snow. The game went on.

Pat Yates, South head coach, said the cold temperatures caused more problems than the snow. The girls had trouble keeping their hands warm so they could grip the bat and the ball.

"I thought my pitcher did a pretty good job considering how cold it was. The other girls could hide their hands in their gloves and keep half-way warm."

Pat Yates
Warrior softball coach

"I thought my pitcher did a pretty good job considering how cold it was," Yates said. "The other girls could hide their hands in their gloves and keep half-way warm."

South's pitcher, Michelle Staggs, struck out two and walked four Altoft batters. She ran into problems in the fourth inning when her defense committed three errors.

In the fourth inning, Altoft erupted for five runs. With two runners on base, one on an error and one on a hit, Cathy Crotty hit a two RBI single. A dropped ball by the first baseman allowed Miss Crotty to score and the batter, Miss Bliekle, on base.

Another error allowed Miss Parker on base, and both Miss Bliekle and Miss Parker scored on a single by Miss Jones.

South scored all three of their runs in the fifth inning. Altoft's pitcher, who had replaced starter Kathy Tolbert at the start of the inning, walked South's first three batters, Teresa Soelner, Anne Paine and Michelle Staggs.

After Miss Soelner got out at home on a fielder's choice, Miss Paine and Miss Staggs both scored on wild pitches. Dottie Smith walked, and then scored on Vicki Smith's hit up-the-middle.

Altoft switched pitchers again, and Miss Tolbert returned to retire the side. "I thought we played quite well considering how poorly we played yesterday," Yates said. "We made better contact at the plate and didn't throw the ball around so much. I felt we were in the game today."

"The pitcher today wasn't as fast but at least we made contact. They concentrated more," Yates said. "I told them concentration is the key to hitting. That and confidence."

Cahokia 16, GC South 0

Pitching was the problem for South in its loss to Cahokia. Not their pitching but Cahokia's. Cahokia pitcher, Sonja Rhodes, pitched a no-hitter in the game called after five innings.

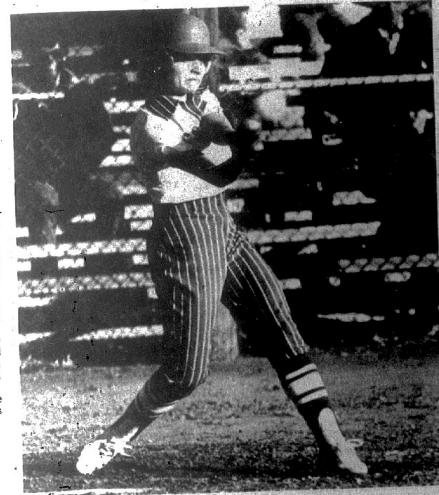

"I don't think my girls had ever seen that good of pitcher. That pitcher was just overbearing," Yates said. "We stood at the plate and watched strike three go by several times."

"My batters were kind of in awe. We didn't even see what their fielders could do. We didn't even test them."

In addition to their poor offensive performance, South also committed seven errors. In the second inning, when Cahokia exploded for nine runs, only two of those runs were earned.

"We were throwing the ball when the runner was already on the base," Yates said.

Retiring equipment manager to throw first pitch

Butch Yatkeman, who will retire as Cardinal equipment manager after the 1982 season, will throw out the first ball to begin his 56th year with the Cardinals on Saturday, April 10, the club announced.

In addition, Cardinal President, Chairman of the Board and Chief Operating Officer August A. Busch Jr. and General Manager

Manager Whitey Herzog announced that Yatkeman would also be honored by the club with a "day" on Sunday, Sept. 12.

A native St. Louisan, Yatkeman, 73, joined the Cardinals as a batboy in 1924. He has been traveling with the ball club since he was named equipment manager in 1932. In his 56 years as a Cardinal employee, he has been a part of all 12 Cardinal pennant winners and all eight World Championship teams. The Cardinal clubhouse at Busch Memorial Stadium was renamed in his honor on his 50th anniversary as a Cardinal employee in 1974.

Cardinal opening day activities on Saturday, April 10 will get under way at noon when high school bands from St. Louis, Mo., Union, Mo., Staunton, Ill., and St. Louis Summer and Parkway West high schools will enter the field. The high school bands will play until 12:30 when Jack Buck introduces the Pittsburgh Pirates. Stadium gates will open at 11 a.m. for the season opener.

Following the traditional motorcade of Cardinal players circling the field in Chevrolet trucks, the five high school bands will combine for the National Anthem under the direction of Dr. Warren Beiss of University of Missouri-St. Louis. After Yatkeman's traditional season opening first pitch, game time is 1:05 p.m.

Most Americans, as a rule, tend to make fun of politicians from their precinct committeemen on up to the Oval Office, but funny thing, underneath that critical assessment, most of us nevertheless admire them and regularly vote them into office...line after time.

Take our own Granite City and Madison County. At one time or another we citizens of the Quad-Cities have voted into office some outstanding athletes.

The list is long and illustrious.

Probably the No. 1 would be the Little Giant, Len Davis, who served four terms as mayor of Granite City. Davis was a brilliant football (left halfback) player for the Granite City (South) Warriors in the 1920's and a high-scoring forward on the same school's basketball team.

The late Lenard (correct spelling) Fleishman always maintained that Len Davis was the best shot in basketball that "I ever saw." In fact, Fleishman gave Davis credit for developing the now favorite one-hand shot. However, when Davis first used it, his coach threatened to kill him or to throw him off the squad. And, for a little man, physically speaking of course, Davis played right in their with the Big Guys in the days when the platoon system in football was unheard of. They performed both on defense and offense.

Davis went on to write sports history at old Shaw-Willard (Bunch) Portell, Circuit Court Clerk, was a fleet (yes, fleet back them) outfielder for the Sacred Heart Softball, like soccer for the St. Louis churches, filled a need for East Side youth back during the Depression years and right before WWII.

Don DeCruz, Assessor, was another brilliant softball pitcher. He didn't have the blinding speed of either Nellie or Whitmer, but his control was his strong point. He was reputed to be able to hit a gnat's eye at fifty feet.

leff College with another man, who later got into politics, Bill Nicolet of Godfrey.

Probably the next best athlete, in his field at least, was Nellie Hagnauer, township supervisor and Chairman of the County Board. Nellie was so good, in fact, that he was elected to the Illinois Softball Hall of Fame as a hurler several years back. An enlistment in the U.S. Navy during WWII probably kept Nellie from a career in college.

Granite City's current mayor, Paul Schuler, was also an outstanding infielder for the Sacred Heart Softball team. Father Mike Costello, the late monsignor, was the driving force behind the sports program at Sacred Heart Softball, like soccer for the St. Louis churches, filled a need for East Side youth back during the Depression years and right before WWII.

Willard (Bunch) Portell, Circuit Court Clerk, was a fleet (yes, fleet back them) outfielder for the Sacred Heart Softball, like soccer for the St. Louis churches, filled a need for East Side youth back during the Depression years and right before WWII.

And, support my long-held theory that to play third base a man either had to be a damn fool or the bravest man alive, was the play of Walter (Shang) Greenhouse, now president of the Metro East Levee Board. I didn't have the pleasure of seeing him play, but fans who did tell me that he not only qualified on both of those counts, but he had something else going for him playing at the Hot Corner. Shang was credited with the best sense of anticipation an athlete can have. He seemed to have a sixth sense to anticipate when a batter was going to bunt. And, of course, his bazoque-like arm and great pair of hands helped him no little.

Personally, looking back to those days in the late Thirties, softball filled a big void in most of our lives. And, now, bringing things up to date, fast-pitch softball is still attracting the best athletes now, but the sport which has literally swept the United States, is slow-pitch. It's a definite Fun Game.

NEXT MONDAY: "A Day For Champ Summers at Busch Stadium" is in the works.

Reports of duck stamp prices exaggerated

Recent news reports that the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission is considering a large increase in the price of the Federal "duck stamp" have been misleading, Wally McAllister, secretary of the Commission and chief of the Realty Division of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said today.

"There is a problem with funding for wetlands conservation because one of the major funding sources, the 1961 Wetlands Loan Act, is scheduled to expire in 1983," McAllister said. "The Commission has agreed to study various options for continued funding of the wetlands program."

However, the Commission has the authority to set the price of the duck stamp or to implement any other means of funding. "The Commission's job is to review and authorize the acquisition of wetland areas proposed by the Fish and Wildlife Service as migratory bird refuges."

An act of Congress will be required to extend the Wetlands Loan Act, to increase the price of the duck stamp, or to authorize other funding alternatives. "Therefore, waterfowl hunters should be aware that reports of a large increase in the price of the duck stamp are greatly exaggerated," McAllister said.

McAllister said that expiration of the wetlands loan was discussed at the most recent meeting of the Commission on February 9. At that time, Secretary James Watt, who chairs the Commission, said that expiration of the loan would seriously impair the Federal Government's wetlands conservation program.

"Wetlands conservation is an issue that won't wait," Watt told other Commission members. "We must examine ways to accelerate acquisition of these needed wetlands before they are lost to us."

The Federal Government has been acquiring wetlands for some 50 years in order to preserve their values as feeding, nesting, resting and wintering areas for migratory waterfowl. Wetlands also provide many other benefits to the nation. Funds for wetlands acquisition come from two sources — the sale of Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamps, popularly called "duck stamps," and the Wetlands Loan Act. Duck stamps must be purchased by all waterfowl hunters age 16 or older. Duck stamp sales presently provide $15 to $16 million in revenue annually. The last increase in the price of the duck stamp was from $5 to $7.50 in 1979.

The Wetlands Loan Act authorized a $105 million loan to be used to acquire wetland habitat for waterfowl. The loan has been extended twice and increased to $200 million, of which about $145 million has been appropriated. If the loan expires as scheduled on Sept. 30, 1983, the remaining $55 million will not be available.

In addition, under the law 75 percent of yearly duck stamp revenues must then be used to repay the loan. This would leave only about $4 million annually to purchase wetlands. Because of high land prices and development pressures on wetlands, McAllister said, it is likely that many wetlands would be lost before the government could afford to purchase and preserve them.

Because of the interest of Commission members in the impending funding problem, McAllister said, possible funding alternatives were reviewed after the Commission's formal meeting. Increasing the price of the duck stamp was only one of several possible alternatives that were presented to the Commission and would not provide a total answer to the funding problem, he said.

Commission members were told that, if duck stamps were the sole source of funding, a $70 duck stamp (based on current sales) would be required to fund the acquisition of 16 million acres of wetlands over a 10-year period. Such a high duck stamp price is considered unrealistic.

Projections for revenues that would be derived from lesser increases in duck stamp prices were also made to show that the entire cost of the program cannot be supported by duck stamp sales alone. Some of these figures were erroneously reported in news stories as proposals for duck stamp price increases.

Other alternatives, including the importance financial incentives to encourage private landowners to preserve their wetlands, were also reviewed.

Because there was not enough time for a full discussion of funding alternatives, Secretary Watt said he would be studying the matter further and discussing it with Commission members before making any requests or recommendations to Congress or other decisions about funding for wetlands acquisition. "The wetlands acquisition program is one of Watt's responsibilities as Secretary of the Interior.

Nearly half of the nation's original 127 million acres of wetlands have already been converted to agriculture, housing and other developments, according to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. At present rates of loss, as few as 36 million wetland acres may remain in the year 2082, of which only about 10 million would be prime waterfowl habitat.

About 1.8 million acres of wetlands have been acquired as national wildlife refuges with the approval of the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission since its establishment in 1929. In addition to Secretary Watt, the Commission members now include Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis, Agriculture Secretary John R. Block, Senator David Pryor (Arkansas), Senator Thad Cochran (Mississippi), Congressman Silvio Conte (Massachusetts), and Congressman John D. Dingell (Michigan), and the chief conservation officer of each state were a land acquisition is proposed.

Seek homes for troubled youths

Recruitment efforts are continuing for an experimental foster home program being developed as a demonstration project by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services in Bond, Clinton, Madison, Monroe, Randolph, St. Clair and Washington Counties, according to Anthony Jenkins, regional administrator of the department's East St. Louis division.

The program, called "Professional Foster Care," is targeted to provide intensive foster care services to 50 teenagers identified as having moderate to severe behavior problems. Such problems may include consistent truancy, running away from home, promiscuous sexual activity and minor delinquent acts, such as shoplifting and trespassing.

Professional foster parents will work closely and intensively with department social workers and will care for no more than two teens at any given time. In addition, department advocates who function as "big brothers" and "big sisters" will visit participating teenagers on a weekly basis, thereby assisting and relieving the professional foster parents.

Professional foster parents will receive a fee of $18.25 per day for each teenager placed in their home for a maximum of $54.75 per month per child, Jenkins explained. He added that $61 per month is mandated by department regulations to be used for each youth's clothing and personal allowance.

In June, 1981, the East St. Louis region had 44 teenagers placed in private residential centers at an average cost of $46 per day.

If the Professional Foster Parent Program is successful, the 50 participating teenagers will be diverted from residential care, thus resulting in a considerable savings in state revenue, while allowing residential facilities to devote their efforts to teens with their severe emotional problems, Jenkins explained. Although professional foster parents will serve children of both sexes, the department plans to place only children of the same sex in each home.

In addition to dealing with children with behavior problems, professional foster parents will be expected to have one parent available to attend department meetings during the 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. week days, to reject no more than one of the five teens placed in their home each year and to attend 30 hours of department sponsored training annually.

Consistency and commitment are the necessary components for the success of the professional foster parent program according to Jenkins. "Professional foster parents must be able to set and maintain reasonable rules and be willing to work with a teenager who will give little in return," he said.

All professional foster parents will be licensed by the department, Jenkins added. He explained that there is no fee for a license and that the requirements include submitting references, undergoing a criminal background check, meeting with department social workers and providing medical exam information.

Residents interested in learning more about the department's Professional Foster Home program may call Shirley Faber at 876-6965.

IN HONOR GROUP

Gina Deleveski of Granite City, a student at Springfield College in Illinois, has been inducted into Delta Theta chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, the national honorary fraternity for two-year colleges, at ceremonies held at the Charles E. Becker Library on campus.

Membership in Phi Theta Kappa is restricted to the top 10 percent scholastically and is by invitation of the faculty and present members.

Gina is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Deleveski, 2270 Clinton Drive. She is a student nurse, majoring in general education.

Family and friends of the inductees attended the ceremonies and reception that followed in Becker Library.

REGIONAL CHAMPIONS in the Midwest Gateway Region Five quartet competition in St. Louis are the members of the "Sunshine Company," which includes two Granite City singers. Seated is Judy Holtscher of Collinsville and standing from the left are Jean Freeman of Vandalia and Ethel McCann and Jody Little, both of Granite City.

'Sunshine Company' advances to international competition

"Sunshine Company," a quartet which includes two singers from Granite City, is the 1982 Midwest Gateway Region Five quartet champion. The singers received their first place medals and trophy at the seventh annual competition held at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel, St. Louis, March 20.

The ladies are all members of the Collinsville Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. In a field of 18 quartets from a three-state region, they placed first. Dressed in pink and white gingham dresses and high button shoes, they sang "Horse and Buggy Days" and "What'll I Do." This enables them to compete at the international level at the 38th Annual International Convention in Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 5 to 9.

The quartet is coached by Wally Ryan of Decatur, Ill. "Sunshine Company" was formed in the spring of 1979, but its members have been quarantining for years. Judith Holtscher, tenor, is a speech and hearing therapist, having received her master of science degree from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. She is serving the chapter as associate director, tenor section leader, music education chairman and is a past president. She resides in Collinsville with her husband, George, director of the Collinsville Sweet Adelines, and two sons, Tom and Eric.

Ethel McCann, lead, is a Mary Kay consultant. She is the current president and lead section leader and has held many chairmanships and offices in the past. She resides in Granite City with her husband, Dennis, and has three children, Kathy, a member of the chapter, Curtis and Toni.

Jody Little, baritone, received her associate degree in business from the VTI Campus of SIU at Carbondale. She is serving the chapter as vice president, baritone section leader and also has held

Signs complaint against husband

Donald R. Evans, 40, of 1735 Deimar Ave., was charged with aggravated assault and disorderly conduct at 10:30 p.m. Monday on state complaints signed by his wife.

Mrs. Joyce Evans of the same address alleged her husband threatened to stab her in the presence of two teenage girls and then threw the knife out of the kitchen window.

Evans also attempted to set fire to the house by igniting a shirt with a lighter, she told officers. A 17-year-old son took the shirt from him and threw it outside, Mrs. Evans alleged.

Break ground for new Girl Scout center

Groundbreaking ceremonies have been completed at Ginger Creek, south of Edwardsville off Route 157, the building site of the new service center for River Bluffs Girl Scout Council.

At the event, Council President Mary Ellen Fischer reiterated the history of the extensive search to provide adequate space for the services for 6,650 girls and 1,700 adult volunteers. After several task forces evaluated all the possibilities for expansion, building proved to be the most economical way of meeting the needs of its membership.

In a resolution passed by the board of directors, Mrs. Fischer stated that the service center will be "operated with the volunteers and girls in mind, by providing them with the best and fullest use of the new facility and its services, and that it be operated as neatly as possible in the manner that the volunteers envision."

The new facility is scheduled to open by fall and will provide office and storage space for program supplies, an equipment store to handle Girl Scout merchandise, a library to house program resources and a conference room for training and meetings.

The developers are Joanne Winfield. The architects are Leonard & Spellman. Glenn Fockstein is chairman of the volunteer building task force.

Easter words - from whence they came

By GARRY N. MURPHY
Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville

"MARDI GRAS," Shrove Tuesday, is French and means "quite literally Tuesday fat," i.e., "Fat Tuesday." It is the last day before the beginning of Lent—the last day to feast before fasting. It is a day—more like a season, in New Orleans—for carnival.

"CARNIVAL" is our version of the Italian "carnevale," which is an alteration of an older version, "carnelevare," which, in turn, comes from two Latin words, "carne" (meat, flesh) and "levare" (lift, remove). So "carnival" is everything you can get away with before they take away the meat.

"LENT" originally meant "springtime" and comes to us from the Old English "Lengten," the time of year when days are lengthening.

"EASTER" mean more or less what it appears to mean. It is the name for a pagan Germanic rite of spring, appropriately presided over by a goddess of the East. (The Old English was "eastron." Early English Christians simply converted the rite into a celebration of the Resurrection.

On the European continent, wherever the Romance languages prevail, the word for Easter is derived from the coincident Jewish holiday, Passover. "Pesah." In France it is "Paques," in Italy, "Pasqua," in Spain, "Pascua."

Beaten woman found in lot

Madison police are continuing to investigate the beating of a woman who was discovered by passerby, lying on the ground in a parking area at the rear of Debbi's Tavern, 1224 Madison Ave., Madison, this week.

The Granite City Police Department alerted Madison authorities after being advised by emergency room personnel that the woman had been brought to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. The woman had been severely beaten and was unconscious. She was admitted to the hospital for treatment.

A group of patrons leaving the lounge saw the woman and tried to help. They took her to the medical center for treatment after realizing her condition was serious. Her identity had not been confirmed.

fluoridating,
state says

Water suppliers in Illinois

must continue to fluoridate until the state Supreme Court rules on an appeal of a circuit court decision that declared the state's fluoridation law unconstitutional.

That was the message sent last week to representatives of municipalities throughout the state by William Kem-

Department of Public Health.

Kempiners noted that on

March 23, the Illinois

Supreme Court allowed a motion by Attorney General

Ty Fahner which asked that the circuit court ruling be held in abeyance.

Circuit Judge Ronald

Niemann of Salem had ruled on Feb. 24 that the prohibited from enforcing the law.

Niemann had ruled on a

Health fair here Apr. 21

Beginning April 16 and lasting until April 25, residents of the St. Louis bi-state area will be able to attend health fairs; 45 locations will offer free health screening and health education through the efforts of thousands of volunteers and hundreds of organizations.

At St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City, the 1982 health fair is set for Wednesday, April 21 — 8 to 11 a.m. for older Americans and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. for the general public.

Basic tests offered at every site will be for anemia, visual acuity, blood pressure and height-weight.

In addition, health professionals will be on hand to provide counseling about health problems or health goals.

Special tests to be offered at many locations may include glaucoma, hearing, podiatry, sickle cell anemia, diabetes and dental screening.

An optional test at 36 locations is blood chemistry, which tests for cholesterol, triglycerides, liver and kidney function and a number of other factors. There is an $8 fee for this test and participants must fast for eight hours before having the blood chemistry.

Health screening does not replace a physical examination and it is not diagnostic, a spokesman said.

The purpose is to educate people about themselves and their own health. Displays and exhibits on health topics will be included in every health fair.

Sponsors of Health Fair '82 are: KSDK-Channel 5, General American Life Insurance Co., and the American Red Cross in conjunction with the National Health Screening Council for Volunteer Organizations.

The health fair hotline, 535-7083, will be open 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, April 12, through Saturday, April 24, for details about availability of special tests.

You And Your Money

How trust deed works

By JUDITH G. RHOADES

Q. I am a new California resident looking for investments to increase my income. Inasmuch as I am in my 70s, I am not interested in growth stocks.

A. I have recently seen advertisements on trust deeds offering anywhere from 18 to 25 percent interest. Just how do these trust deeds work and what are the risks?

A. I have $50,000 that is now invested in Treasury bills and money market certificates. — A.B., Newport Beach, Calif.

A. This yield on trust deed investments is more properly called "return on investment" rather than interest. This is because trust deeds are often obtained at a discount and the total return includes the amount discounted from principal as well as interest on the face amount.

For example, typically, a $10,000 trust deed that is yielding 15 percent may be purchased at, let's say, a 10 percent discount. You would then invest $9,000 ($10,000 less 10 percent). The trust deed would be paying $1,500 a year interest. If the deed is three years in length, the total return on interest is $1,500 times 3 or $4,500. Add that to the discount of $1,000 and get $5,500. Divide $5,500 by the number of years (3) and get $1,833.33. Divide this average return ($1,833.33) by your investment ($9,000) and you receive 20.4 percent return per year.

As to the safety of trust deeds, in the area where you reside, you probably should have no trouble with the safety factor. Under separate cover, you were provided with more information which I trust will be helpful to you.

Q. I have just returned to a paying job after many years of playing homemaker. I received some small settlement in my divorce, and have invested it, but I am worried that when I retire Social Security is not going to allow me to live comfortably.

A. I'm right, and if so, can you suggest a way in which to increase my retirement income? — L.K., Glenview, Ill.

A. You will have to supply more of your old age income by saving and investing for it sooner and staying on the job for extra years. One way to increase your retirement income is to work for a company with a good pension plan.

How SSI differs

Q. Why is it that a person that has several incomes for rental properties receives, upon only a doctor's report, disability benefits for the rest of her life, when another person, same number of work years, have to prove, in court, that she has no other income, before she can receive the same benefits?

A. The difference is because the second person also applied for Supplemental Security Income at the same time? — J.D.

A. You have asked and answered your own question. Social Security benefits are work-related and depend on someone having worked and paid Social Security taxes for a stipulated period of time.

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments are not work-related. They are based on need and there are income and resource limitations involved.

Q. I will be 62 in May and my question is could my application forms be sent by mail to me. — E.B.

A. Your letter has been referred to your local Social Security office. They will be calling you to help you complete your application by phone. The application will then be sent to you for review and signature and you will be advised to return it with your birth certificate and whatever other proofs are necessary in your particular case.

Q. What does interfund borrowing involve and is this a permanent arrangement to help the Social Security Trust Funds. — R.G.

A. A December 1981 law allows the Retirement and Survivor Trust Fund to borrow from the Disability and Medicare Trust Funds to meet projected deficiencies in Social Security revenues for retirement and survivor's benefits through December 1982.

The secretary of the Treasury will determine each month if and what amounts must be borrowed between the trust funds to pay benefits.

Q. I'm 50, 100 percent disabled and receiving Social Security disability benefits. My wife who has never worked will be 62 on Jan. 11, 1983. How much will she get and could she collect before age 62 because I am disabled. — L.R.T.

A. Your wife will be eligible to start receiving benefits for February 1983, the first full month she will be age 62. She cannot collect earlier even though you are disabled.

Her monthly benefit will be about 38 percent of your monthly check.

Q. I'm thinking about buying an annuity from my insurance agent. He tells me I will probably need it since Social Security will only replace part of my pre-retirement earnings.

A. My only concern is that an annuity would reduce my Social Security benefit. — D.K.

A. Annuities are not considered earned income and will not affect your Social Security benefits. Only earnings from employment or self-employment may affect your monthly Social Security check.

State office wants role in rate hike case

The Governor's Office of Consumer Services (GOCS) announced Monday that it will represent the Village of Buffalo in legal proceedings filed in opposition to Illinois Power Company gas and electric rate increase requests.

GOCS Director Alvin Grandys said the action, a petition for leave to intervene before the Illinois Commerce Commission, was taken because he believes local governments are best suited to expressing local concerns over rate increase requests by utilities.

"Local governments are increasingly taking the concerns of their residents before the ICC to protect consumers," he said.

Illinois Power is seeking a 19.8 percent electric rate hike that would generate $14.2 million and a 9.7 percent increase in gas rates that would bring in $50.5 million.

"Nearly three-fourths of the electric rate hike request is based on an additional $500 million IP says it needs for construction work at the Clinton project," Grandys said.

"IP's request for higher rates for construction work in progress at Clinton 1 is not justified."

"It is unfair for consumers to be forced to become investors in construction programs like this one."

The consumer services office will work with residential, commercial and industrial groups protesting the IP request, Grandys said, adding that technical and legal aid will be made available for groups according to Utility Consumer Assistance Program guidelines.
